Dear Editor Strawbridge,

This is in response to the article "You, your Car and U.S. Energy Policy: Things you Need to Know" in the November/December issue of AAA World.

Readers of this article should do a Goggle search for James A. Baker III and learn of his connection to oil interest. Since the authors of the article are probably his employees it could be biased.

Not mentioned in the article is the fact that the Japanese have a water fuelled automobile on the street. My webpage www.byronwine.com, in #13-V, has a clip from a Japanese newscast about this automobile. Five videos of other automobiles that use only water for fuel are also in that file.

Regards,

Byron S. Wine III
